

JIM SOUPER

This is very much a personal landmark. My first visit to Halifax, in early 1987, was for a job interview with the then Halifax Building Society. I started work as a trainee programmer on 27th April.

Designed and built between 1968 and 1974, it was Grade II listed in January 2013.

The images here were made around the building itself, except for the final image, made from Beacon Hill. The building is currently undergoing a £60 million modernisation, hence the hoardings, barriers and bollards that surround it.

Further information:

<https://historicengland.org.uk/listing/the-list/list-entry/1408195>

© Jim Souper

4th September 2023